A - THE SENATE CHAMBER REPRESENTATION
The heart and soul of the Institute is our breathtaking full-scale representation of the U.S. Senate Chamber in Washington. This majestic space recreates the real Chamber in stunning detail, from the ornate wall decorations to the rich oak wood desks, made by a New England master craftsman. The sense of history in the Chamber is enhanced with state of the art technology.

B - THE LOBBY AREA
6,400 square foot lobby area, the perfect spot to host 800 people for a reception or 300 people for a seated meal. The sleek design makes for a perfect backdrop for an elegant dinner or cocktail reception.

C - THE SURROUND
The Institute features dynamic programming through the Chamber Surround exhibit space: an interactive, multi-media space representing the history, role, leaders, and significant accomplishments of the U.S. Senate. As visitors move through the space they engage with wall-sized, high-resolution media in which the story of the Senate is presented in a series of distinct exhibit areas, with content that is updated through real-time data streams.

D - THE STUDIOS
The Institute features three 1,400-square-foot classrooms that can be further divided into smaller spaces. These rooms can be used to hold workshops, breakout sessions, or simply for smaller gatherings. Each of these spaces can be set up in conference room-style that seats 20, classroom-style for 50, or auditorium-style with 98 seats.

OUR EVENT SPACES

UNIQUE VENUE
The new and innovative Edward M. Kennedy Institute for the United States Senate offers an elegant and visionary space that combines the soaring history of the Senate with the modern wonder of architect Rafael Vinoly’s sleek design.

CUSTOMIZABLE TECHNOLOGY
Our state-of-the-art infrastructure in the Senate Surround has three walls with 22 high resolution projectors that can display video and still images at a scale rarely seen outside of sports stadiums.

“Everyone was wowed by the Institute - especially the chamber. The partnership before and during the planning process was fantastic. I will certainly recommend the venue to my colleagues.”
